Title of the course: _____

Title of paper: _____

This paper is _____ words in length (plus _____ pages of essential tables and figures), excluding title page, table of contents, summary, acknowledgements, preface, appendices and list of sources but including notes, and is thus equivalent to _____ standard pages in length (400 words or 2,400 characters = 1 standard page).

In writing this paper, I have cited all published sources used, including Internet sources, as follows:

- Direct quotations are marked as quotations, and the source of each quotation is indicated.
- The sources are also clearly indicated for material summarised or paraphrased from the work of other writers.
- Sources are indicated at the point in the text where the material is used, either through a reference in the text or through a footnote, as well as being listed in the bibliography.

I may have discussed the paper with others and used advice and suggestions from others in writing it, but the paper is my own original work and is neither copied from another source without proper acknowledgement, nor written for me by another person, in whole or in part.
