

A joint seminar 14 – 19 April 2009 between the Danish PhD School in Archaeology and Deutsches Archäologisches Institut (DAI), Frankfurt

(<http://www.dainst.de/abteilung.php?id=268>)

Preliminary programme

14 April

From Copenhagen and Århus to Frankfurt by train
Arrival, check-in at DAI (guestrooms)

15, 16 (and 17) April

- 20 min presentations by the participating PhD.-students from the PhD School and from DAI – presentations of PhD.-projects or selected aspects hereof
- Presentation of DAI and its facilities, i.a. the library with its app. 130.000 publications and 1.600 journals. The main subject is European prehistory and early history plus adjacent natural sciences.
- Presentation of two of DAI's interdisciplinary projects – the focal point being the subject matter as well as the project organisation.

SINCOS II-SEDECO - http://www.dainst.org/index_7266_de.html :

Geo-archäologische Untersuchungen zur Küstenentwicklung und Kulturgeschichte des südwestlichen Ostseeraumes in den vergangenen 8000 Jahren

POLITISCHE RÄUME (Forschungscluster 3 - http://www.dainst.org/index_8289_de.html), i.e.:

Lahnau-Waldgirmes: Römer und Germanen im Lahntal (Grenzen politischer Räume)
http://www.dainst.org/index_60_de.html

Der spätantike Kaiserpalast Felix Romuliana / Gamzigrad in Serbien (Orte der Herrschaft)
http://www.dainst.org/index_3416_de.html

(17 and) 18 April

Excursions arranged to meet the research interests of the participating Ph.D.-students.

19 April

Return to Copenhagen and Århus

* * *

The work load of participation in the course is estimated to the equivalence of 3 ECTS (60 ETCS = one year), or app. 3 weeks of full-time work